"GET THE HOOK!"

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.
Sir: Is pleasure in any form permissible in Honolulu? Having traveled extensively throughout the states where it is customary for the theatres of a lighter class of entertainment to regard their audiences with a weekly amateur night, I must say that such forms of amusement can never be equaled in heartiness of enjoyment. From an experience of last evening it would appear that somberness pervades the local audiences when so-called amateur "talent" advances to the front and gives what should be expected from our little, petted-hopefuls of a tender age. During these performances, the audience sits in perspiring, stiff-necked, stilted attitude and never a smile is in evidence. Could they but see such a performance in the right light by a few expressions of witicism, calls for the hook, and applause of a like nature which is really the "talent's" due, they would then have full value for their admission fee.

If you, reader, are from the states, can you not recall the hilarity of amateur night at the theatre in your home town?

I was requested to leave the Liberty theatre last evening, where what was advertised as an amateur performance held forth on the boards, at my first call for the hook. I did so, but with a feeling of sorrow for the balance of the audience still sweltering there in those hard, wooden chairs, thinking they were enjoying the futile attempts of the worthy amateurs, who are to be commended for their ambitious spirit yet who might better try their little stunts to further perfection in parlor entertainments.

Are there not some people in Honolulu who can appreciate and enjoy an amateur performance in the right spirit?

Yours very truly,

BERT D. CHILSON.

FROM A NEW ZEALANDER.

Honolulu, July 18th, 1913.

Editor Star-Bulletin:
I quite agree with Mr. Rath in being dissatisfied with the way British residents, except a favored few, were ignored in issuing invitations to the several functions in honor of the officers of H. M. S. New Zealand.

It was generally supposed that all respectable British residents, and New Zealanders, would be invited to visit the ship, but not so, the advisory committee carefully excluded all those who from pecuniary reasons are not actually in society or members of the Country Club.

I am a New Zealander and a subscriber to the entertainment fund, but if I had depended upon receiving an invitation I would have seen nothing of the ship or its officers, however, I am pleased to say I met most of them, including Captain Halsey, in other ways. One of the officers said to me, "of course we shall see you at the reception," I replied, I am not invited. He appeared surprised and said, "There is bad management somewhere."

It seems to me that those of this city who advised the British consul, and the officers of H. M. S. New Zealand, as to whom should be invited to the reception functions have succeeded by their inconsiderate snobbishness in engendering a great deal of bitterness and ill feeling which mars the pleasure that the visit of this splendid battleship cruiser should have afforded to all the subjects of King George who reside in the "Paradise of the Pacific."

It must not be inferred that there is the slightest reflection in the foregoing on Capt. Halsey nor his officers, they are gentlemen.

A NEW ZEALANDER.

EXPLANATION.

Honolulu, July the 19th.

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir:—In re the complaint that the British committee "played favorites."

It was clearly understood at the meeting of the British residents, held for the purpose of providing entertainment on the arrival of the New Zealand, that the committee's functions were simply to see that the CREW of the dreadnought had a good time while in Honolulu: it was also clearly understood that the entertainment of the OFFICERS was to be taken in charge by the local clubs or local society folk.

Personally, I think that no fault can be found with the committee as regards complaints concerning invitations, or the lack of invitations. It was not the duty of the committee to provide invitations for functions over which the committee had no control—such as the various receptions.

I am quite sure that the refreshments at Alexander Field were furnished by the Seamen's Institute, and not under the supervision of the British committee. If this is not correct, the facts can easily be ascertained. That some British residents were overlooked may be true, but I am quite positive that the fault does not lie with the committee, as its duties were simply to provide entertainment and a sports program for the crew—and from expressions to me by Captain Halsey, some of his officers and members of the crew, it looks as if they thoroughly performed their task.

Very truly yours,
EDW. W. P. ST. GEORGE.

POLICEMAN TARGET FOR FILIPINOS WHO ARE POOR MARKSMEN

Officer William Spencer, stationed at Ewa, and under the jurisdiction of Deputy Sheriff Fernandez, had a close call from several shots fired by a Filipino who was endeavoring to escape arrest.

Spencer was called yesterday afternoon to quell a disturbance in a Filipino camp at Ewa plantation. The melee was fast and furious when the officer entered upon the scene. In attempting to take two of the active participants, one is alleged to have drawn a gun and fired several shots at the police officer. In some miraculous manner, Spencer escaped the flying shots, while both Filipinos took to their heels.

It was a long and stern chase for Spencer, but some little time afterward he came upon the "little brown brothers" at the Puuloa railway station, where they awaited the midnight train to Honolulu.

This time Spencer made sure of his men and caught them before another display of poor marksmanship was possible. When searched both men were found to possess revolvers as well as long daggers.

CASCARETS TONIGHT! IF BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, HEADACHY AND SICK

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress—wake up refreshed and feel fine. Let Cascarets cleanse and sweeten your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel cheerful and bully for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—advertisement.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

THOMAS YELLEN — I am inclined to view politics in the dog days as a recrudescence of nightmare.

WALTER COOMBS — It is political cowardice for Republican committeemen to resign. What they should do is work.

M. C. PACHECO — According to the way I have sized up the political situation, we don't need a reorganization of the political parties half as bad as an entirely new party that will carry out all the fool ideas of the morning would-be reformer.

WALLACE R. FARRINGTON — I understand that Chairman von Damm thinks he should resign. That is his royal American privilege, so why doesn't he do it. One thing, however, he should remember. In view of his activities immediately following and since the election, he must not expect men with red blood in their veins to follow the advice and leadership of a quitter.

URGES PUBLICITY AS REPUBLICAN WORK NOW

An outline of a publicity program for Republicans on this island was presented to the county committee last night by Chairman W. R. Farrington for the special committee named some weeks ago to investigate the matter. The committee did not take up the report last night, but Chairman von Damm said this morning that it will be considered in detail at the next meeting.

The report says: "Your committee to which was referred the publicity program suggested by the undersigned at the last meeting has not had a meeting of the full membership, but an effort has been made to secure the drift of sentiment."

"Generally speaking, the sentiment in favor of a publicity campaign is favorable provided someone can be found to do the work and pay the bills. Men who have footed many political bills are either disgusted with the return they got on their money on previous occasions or feel that expenditures at this time are not timely. There is also a well-defined opposition to the use of money in connection with politics on account of the misuse of funds in some of the political campaigns. So far as publicity in newspapers is concerned, there will be no difficulty in solving this problem if the material is supplied."

"What we need then is a man to assemble the facts, a man to put them in shape and in interpreter to translate in Hawaiian. The amount that will have to be paid these men depends solely on the amount of personal service which our citizens are willing to give. We all know that the chamber of commerce paid a large sum to secure some facts regarding the government of the municipality. These were all right so far as they went but in my estimation that money did not realize the return that should have been realized on the investment because there was no carefully planned and persistent publicity campaign to first put those facts before the public and bring them to the popular attention again and again. My personal experience has been that in any campaign for the common good one has to keep everlastingly at it, and not until people begin to say, 'For Heaven's sake keep quiet and let us alone,' can you feel that you are making an impression. That means they are just beginning to wake up. The average man doesn't want to be waked up on matters of government that call for his personal activity. You will recall that it was a personal allusion to a platform pledge that pried loose the activity which made the sugar producers realize that their work was amounting to something."

"As to the man to do this work. In the 4th precinct Mr. L. C. Ables has come to the front of late as among those willing to take on. He would be a man specially fitted to shape up facts of special interest to the people. We would suggest that Eli J. Crawford could do whatever translating might be needed. If I can be of any value I will volunteer my services for shaping up the material for display advertising or in paragraph form for quick and easy reading."

"The raising of money for this particular work is important, but the first thing to be decided is whether the present county committee intends to do something or die a natural death, whether it intends to attempt to do politics on the old basis or accept the spirit of the times as represented in the primary law and strive to enter on a new era of going to the people to convince them, rather than going about with a club or attractive plums of offices or gifts of a different nature."

Respectfully submitted,
W. R. FARRINGTON,
Chairman, Special Committee on Publicity.

PAGE STILL DRAWS SALARY AS EDITOR

[By Latest Mail]
NEW YORK. — Walter H. Page, American ambassador in London, is still on the pay roll of Doubleday, Page & Co., at the salary he received as editor of World's Work. The salary of $35,000 a year which he receives from the firm, of which he is a member, is said to have made it possible for him to accept the ambassadorship. His salary as ambassador is $17,500 a year.

When the post was first offered to Page, he demurred because of his lack of wealth. When President Wilson insisted, the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co. it is reported, decided to continue Page at his former salary, and in effect, to give him a leave of absence.

LOBBYING NOT A CRIME, SAYS VICE-PRESIDENT TOM MARSHALL

[By Latest Mail]

PHILADELPHIA. — Vice-President Marshall in a remarkable interview here said that in his belief the American business man is justified in maintaining special paid representatives at Washington for watching legislation. He asserted also the American business men should forget congress for the next ten years; that he had the same idea as James J. Hill, who said recently that the best thing for American business would be to abolish congress for ten years.

The lobby investigation is being conducted by a committee of the senate, of which the vice-president is the presiding officer. But he says "as American business is being run at present, the business man is bound to spend money to have a representative near the capitol."

"I am not saying whether this money is spent honestly or not," said Vice-President Marshall, but he said there is such a thing as legitimate expenditures of money for lobbying. "When business is in a state of mind where it regards Congress as the creature which opens and closes its door every day," he continued, "you are going to have money spent around the capitol."

"It is to be expected that American business men will spend big sums when they think their interests are so closely wrapped up in legislation. These sums may be spent properly and they may not. The principle is that they are bound to be spent, and that is a part of the business system as conducted under the present ideas of the American business man that they be spent."

The superintendent of public works has signified his intention of calling for bids for the construction of additional roads in the Auwalimu district at an early date. Specifications for this work are nearing completion.

Of course Mr. Taft is happy. Why shouldn't he be? He has no money invested in railroads or manufacturing, and his official record is one of prosperity building for the country.—Kansas City Journal.
